TALON

Southeast Guilford High School • Greensboro, North Carolina

Volume V • Larry Clapp, Editor • Patsy Hodgin, Assistant Editor

Foreword

Time is the past, the present, and the future—
For us the future lies ahead, and the present is
The time of importance. It is now that we Are prepared for tomorrow.

We, the members of the 1967 Talon Staff, proudly present the product of the past one year at Southeast Guilford High School. Just as the structure of the building itself is the material foundation of Southeast, the 1967 Talon is a reflection of its tradition, character, and spirit.

Dedication

Miss Nancy Rorie

A teacher whose ideals can truly instill in a student the desire to excel—a teacher whose own enthusiasm can kindle the spark of creativity—a teacher who gives not only of her knowledge, but of herself has reached the supreme goal of her honored profession. To a woman who has helped fill this interval of time in our lives with meaning, we proudly dedicate the 1967 Talon to Miss Nancy Rorie.

To know how to laugh is to know how to reign. Anonymous

Library and Guidance

The Library serves as the hub of the academic life at Southeast. Due to the diligent effort of Miss Hemphill, our librarian, the library provides adequate materials for research, as well as enjoyment through books. The numerous magazines and audio-visual equipment also provide valuable learning aids.

A student finds valuable guidance while choosing a college.

Teachers as well as students find the library a valuable asset.

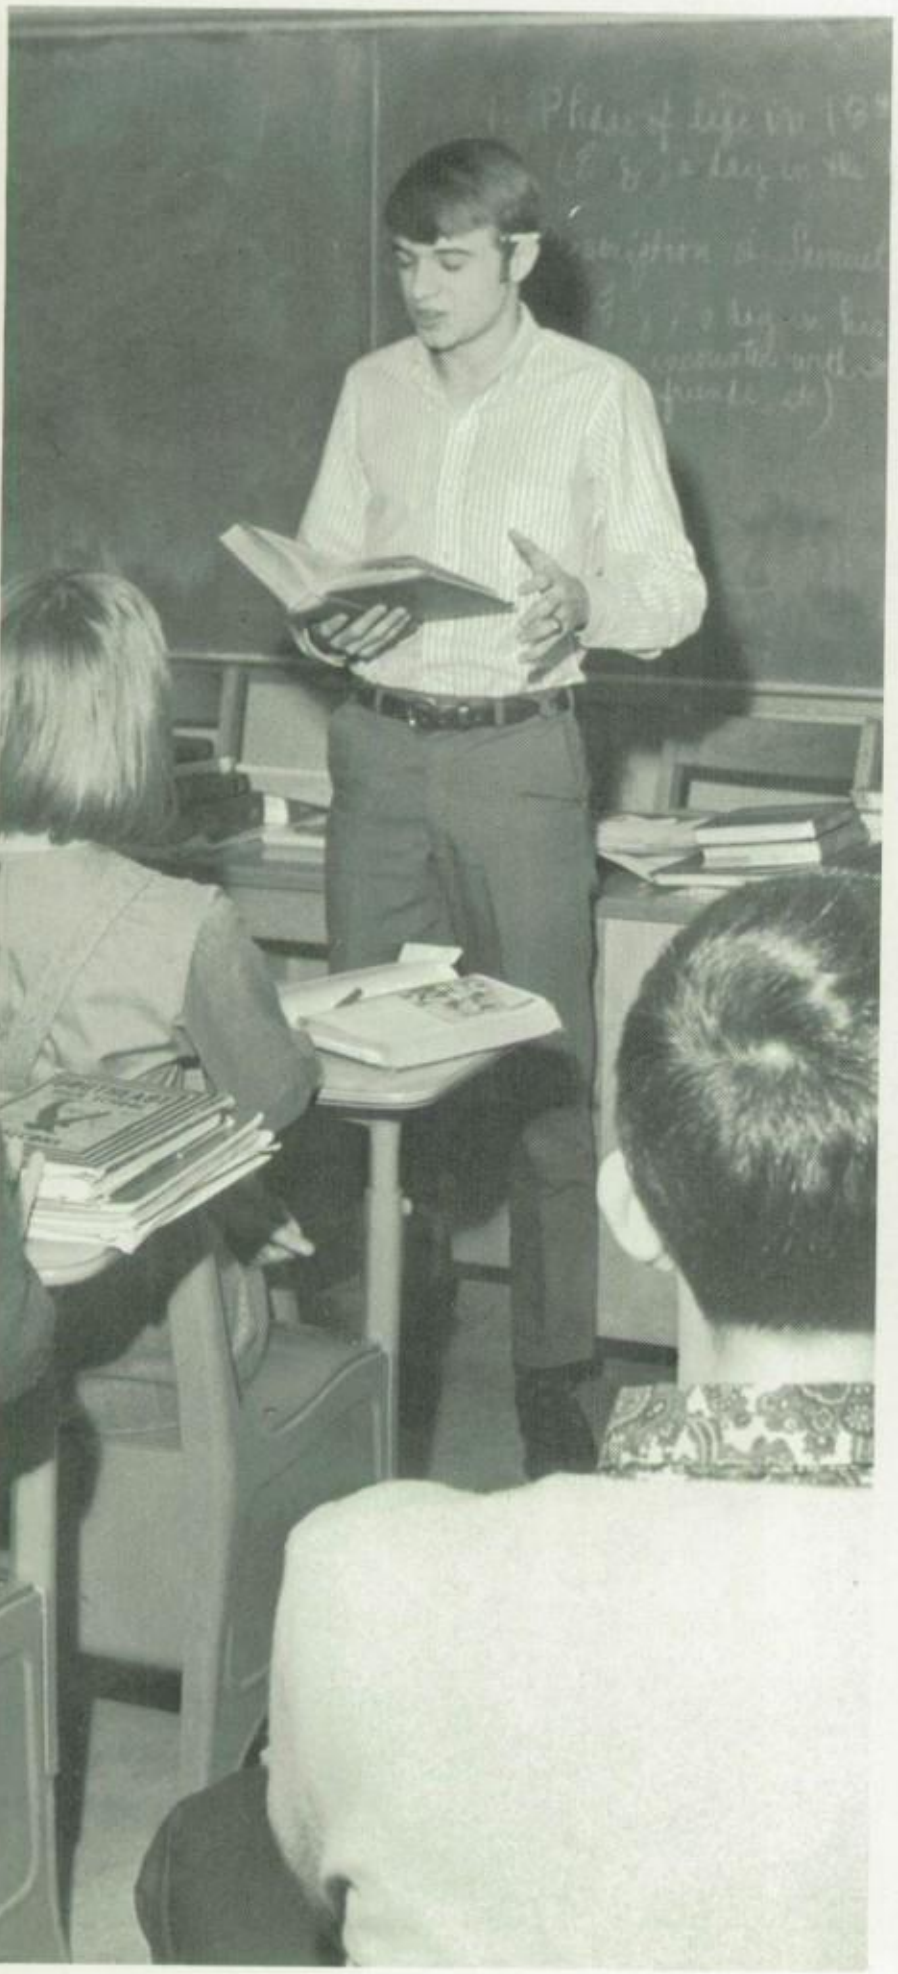
As each new class enters Southeast, they find a helping hand in the Guidance Office. If they need a curricular change, help in making college or vocational plans, or merely advice, they find Mrs. Whitaker ready to listen or Mr. Hayes ready to be of assistance.

Languages

One of the most important aspects of education is the study of the English language. Prose and poetry open the door to worlds of adventure, tragedy, romance, and comedy. Through the study of grammar, students learn to express their own ideas correctly and effectively.

Southeast students, aided by Mrs. Susan Gray and Miss Rose Marie Owen, are instructed in all phases of the French language. Filmstrips have been shown to familiarize classes with French geography, and students have been taught to use their knowledge of French grammar and speech in the language lab.

"Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow..."



Montrez-nous Paris!

Opportunities to Prepare

As the modern world is becoming even more of a business world, new fields are opening and new opportunities are available. The students at Southeast are fortunate in having able advisors to help them attain the skill and ability necessary to take advantage of these opportunities. Courses in shorthand, bookkeeping, typing, and business law help transform students into future business leaders.

Students bound for the business world are skilled in the operation of office machinery.

On-the-job training for students is provided through the cooperative efforts of the school, industry, and business. Through Distributive Education and the Industrial Cooperative Training Program, students develop skills in a chosen occupational field while attending classes designed to better prepare them for a modern world and insure them of a sound future.

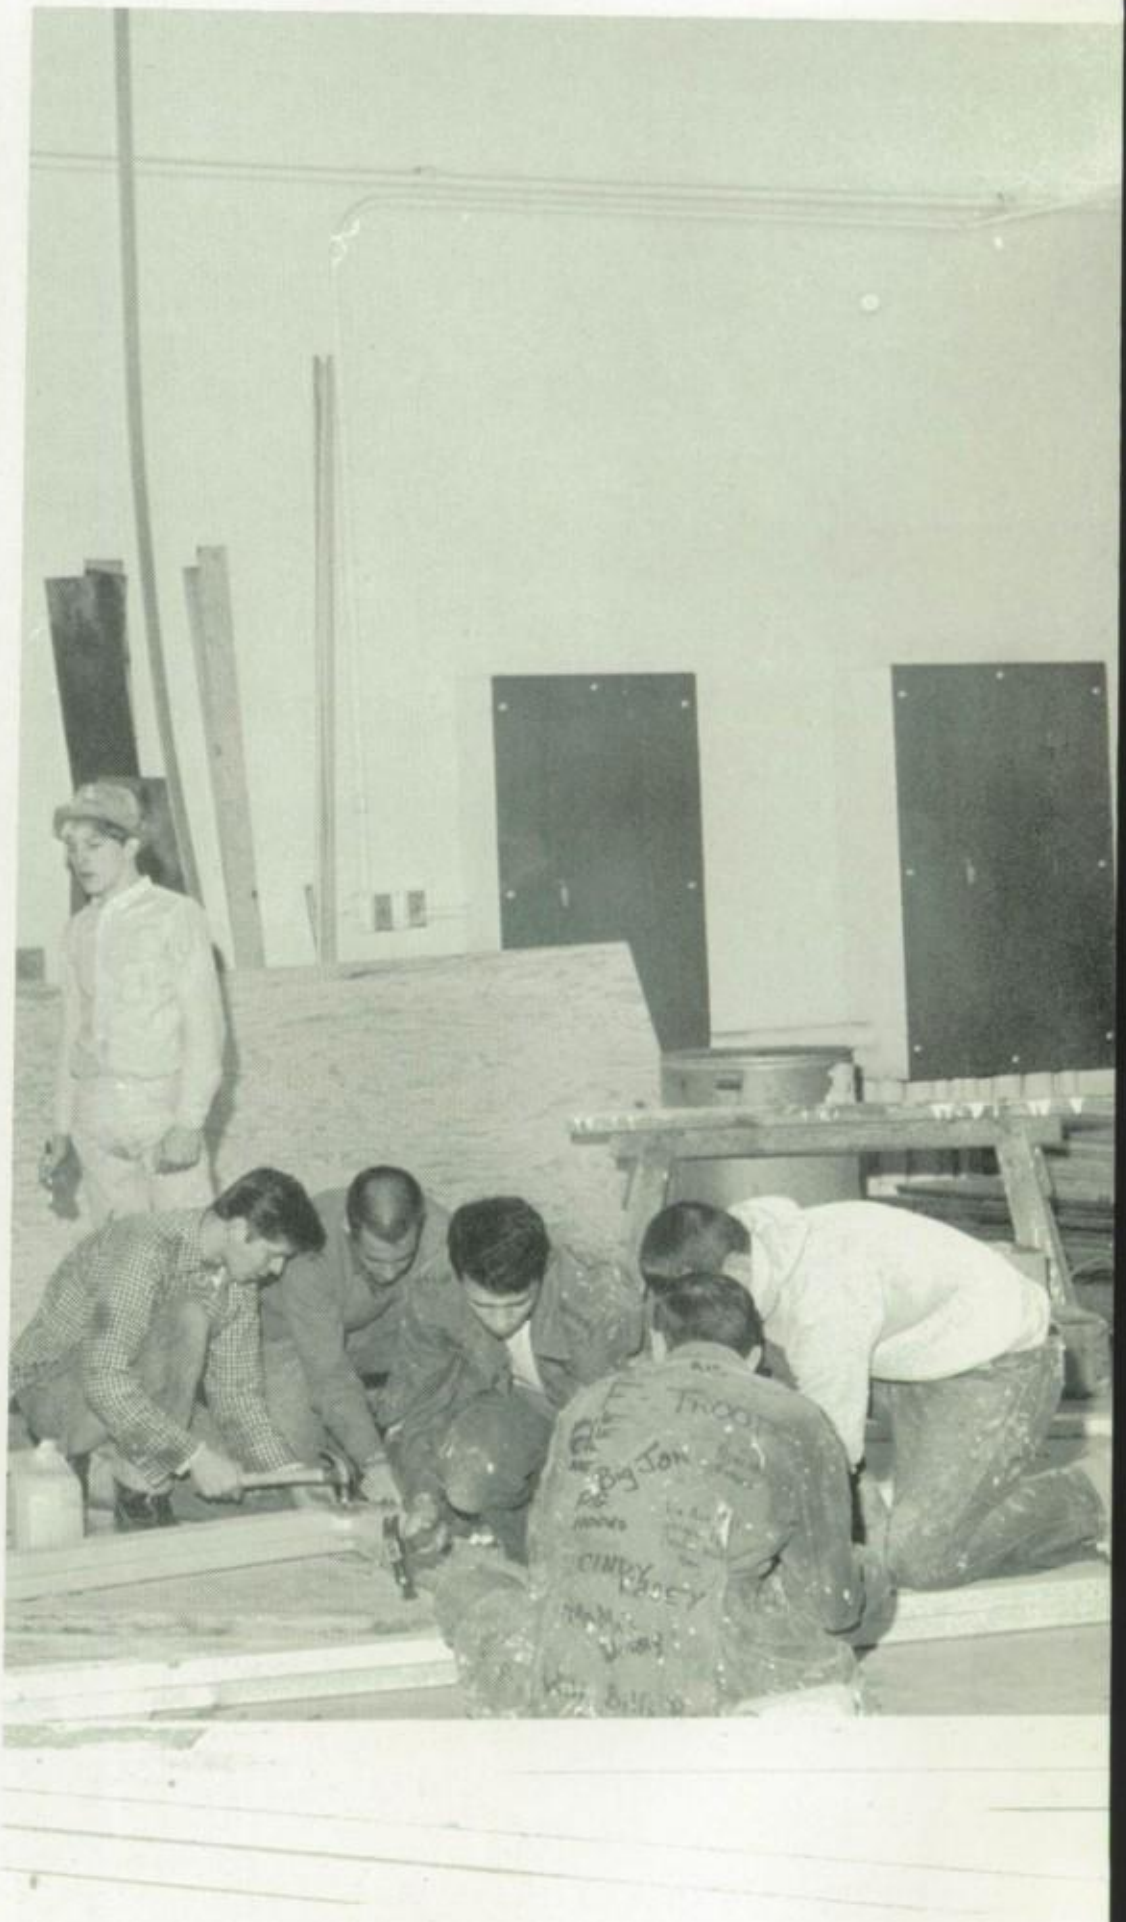
Electronics students test skills acquired in the classroom.

for the Future

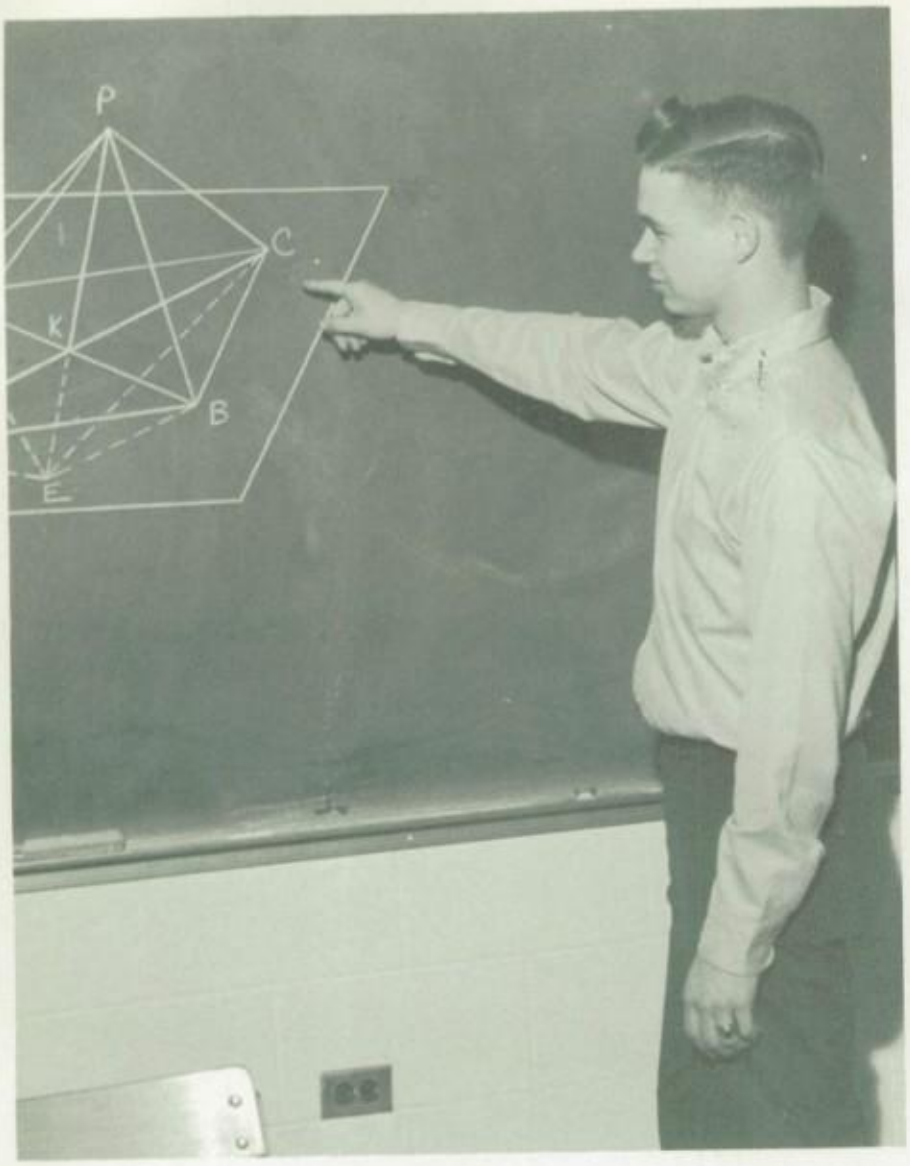
Home management is stressed in the Southeast Home Economic Department, as well as cooking, sewing, and child care. The girls receive guidance which will enable them to run a home economically and successfully. A successful family life is just one more step toward a sound future.

Agriculture—the backbone of world economy through the ages—is progressing as never before. Southeast helps to educate youths in this field through its modern agricultural department. There is a four year course available during which time extensive study is done in types of crops, soil testing, conservation, and the other aspects of farming.

Future homemakers master the art of cookie-baking.



Carpentry boys construct beams for the greenhouse.



"Prove that??...You gotta' be kiddin'."

Fields of Tomorrow . . .

The field of tomorrow will certainly be open to Southeast students. They are being prepared for a modern world with excellent opportunities in physics, chemistry, and biology. Students have a special lab period which enables them to utilize the knowledge they have gained. The mathematics department expands the students' knowledge in the fascinating realms of math. With such courses offered as Algebra I and II, Geometry, and Trigonometry, the students are able to put basic mathematics principles to work and learn the importance behind them.

"...and then you heat the little jewel."

And of Yesterday

The past is the foundation of the future. Through the studies of history and social studies, students learn from their forefathers and their environments. Classroom work consists of a variety of activities ranging from debates to panel discussions.

"I found it—North Carolina."

Physical Education boys go all out for a jump ball.

Physical Fitness

Physical fitness is an important aspect of daily life. The physical education program at Southeast is designed to enable students to build strong bodies as well as strong minds.

Safety

Driver education has one main objective—to prepare youth for the great responsibility of sitting "behind the wheel." Also stressed is a new concept known as defensive driving.

"Would ya' look at that!"

Self-Expression

Students have always found time to explore and develop special talents or hobbies. Southeast students have a wonderful opportunity to do this in the music department.

All students search for a way of expressing themselves—some find it in the field of art. Under the able supervision of Miss Janice Garner, the Art Department gives students an opportunity to explore the worlds of painting, sketching, and design.

Honors and Events

National Honor Society

In the hand of each National Honor member rests one of the most important symbols of the society. In the induction ceremony, a candle is lighted to represent scholarship, service, character, and leadership. Each member, guided by Mrs. Kay Alverson, strives to uphold the ideals for which these candles stand.

Row 4: Steve Carraway, Pat Alston, Sandra Garrett, Carolyn Dillon, Sandra Curtis, Larry Clapp.

Quill and Scroll Society

The goal of the Southeast Chapter of the Quill and Scroll is to give students who are gifted in the field of journalism and creative writing an opportunity to develop their talents. Students who show promise in these fields are invited to submit a sample of their writings to the club for consideration. The society publishes the Osprey, a magazine containing their own literary works, annually.

Mr. John Goins, Advisor; Steve Carraway, Editor of the Osprey; and Mrs. Susan Gray, Advisor.

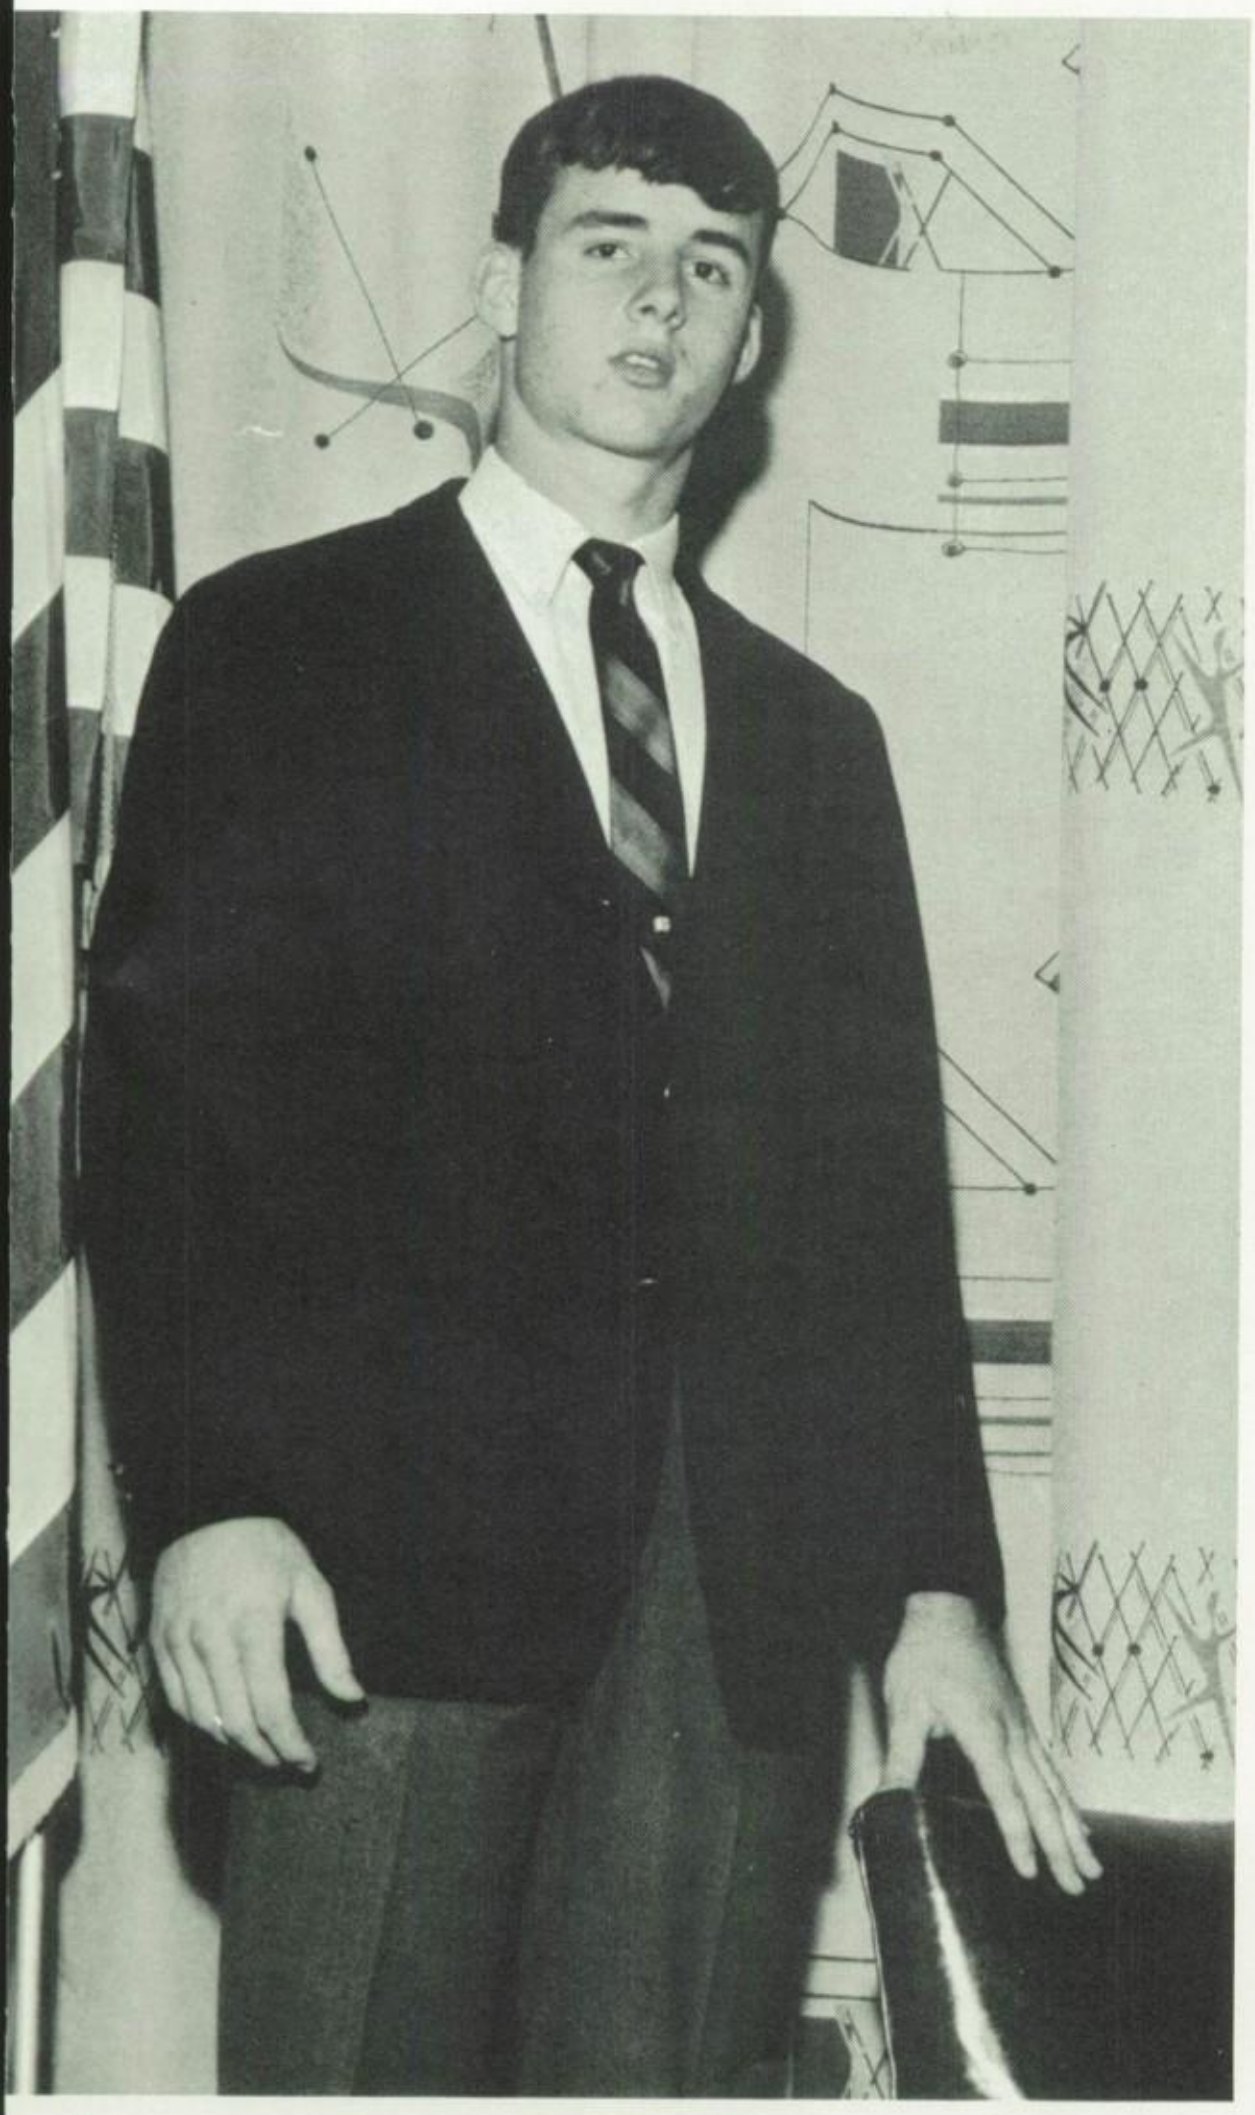
DAR Award — Ann Moore

Service, dependability, leadership and patriotism—these outstanding qualities of good character are considered in the presentation of the Daughters of the American Revolution's Good Citizen Award. In 1967, the recipient of this award is Ann Moore, daughter of Mrs. R. C. Moore.



Tommy Garrett — Civitan Award

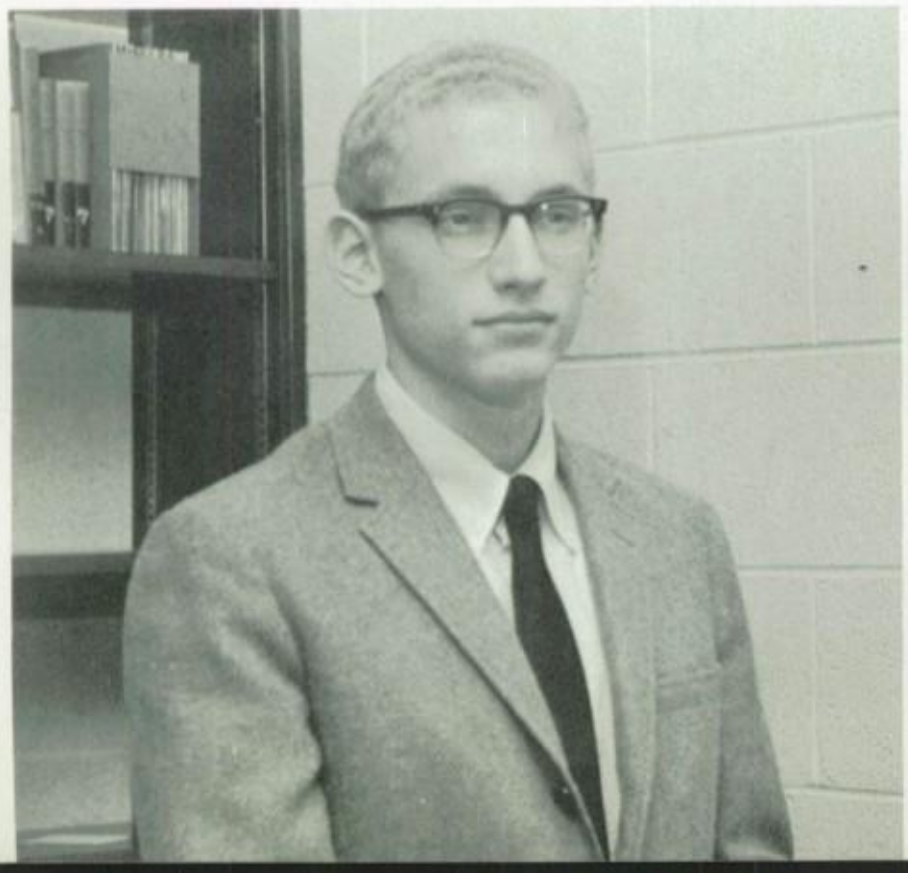
Each year the senior class at Southeast chooses a deserving student to receive the Civitan Award. This honored award is based on scholarship, character, dependability, leadership, service, loyalty, sincerity, and a willingness to cooperate with students and faculty.

By promoting the school's best efforts and ideals, Tommy Garrett was chosen by the senior class as recipient of the Civitan Award. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Garrett.

Eleven junior marshals, under the supervision of Miss Rose Marie Owen, were chosen from the junior class, according to their scholastic averages. They are: seated, Pam Thompson, Lydia Hinshaw, co-chief; Janice Reynolds, Ellen McInnis, Linda Haralson, Dorinda Witty. Standing, David Clapp, Scot McDaniel, Greg Cranford, Harold Jones, co-chief; B. Mike Smith.

Scholastic Achievement

One of the greatest honors a high school student in North Carolina can receive is to be selected to attend the Governor's School. In 1966, two Southeast students were selected for this honor. They were Danny Garrett, who went to further his studies in art, and Steve Carraway, who studied in the field of social sciences.



Beta

Outstanding achievement, leadership ability, and good character are three characteristics required of Beta members. As sponsor, Miss Rose Marie Owen leads the club in any service projects undertaken. All members look forward to the annual convention, which is held alternately in Raleigh and Asheville.

"Tender is the Night"

April brought on showers...of memories and delight. One of these memories was the Junior-Senior Prom when the plain and ordinary turned into magic and beauty. The feeling of that night was best described by the Prom theme "Tender is the Night."

Miss Talon

The 1967 Miss Talon is Miss Judy Oakley. Miss Oakley, a member of the senior class, enjoys sewing and playing the piano. In the future she looks to the teaching profession. Miss Oakley was judged this year by the people in the Southeast community, on the basis of natural beauty.

Homecoming

Amid an atmosphere of old friends, excitement, beauty, and suspense, the 1966-67 Homecoming Court was presented in a gala parade. Our 1966 Homecoming Queen, Mrs. Sharon McBride Stuart graced the ceremony with her presence. In a burst of applause Miss Carol Phelps was announced Maid of Honor and finally the 1967 Homecoming Queen was crowned—Miss Rene Davis.

In a cloud of happy tears, she received red roses and a kiss from President Eugene Flinchum. Thanks go to Mr. Harmon Moser for providing the float.

Band

The Southeast Falcon High School Band is an organization of which we are proud. Under the direction of Mr. Harold Grant, it has added unlimited spirit while performing at sports' events, and has filled our school with the sound of music while in concert. Much work is required of both the members and director for each performance and we are indeed grateful, for it is a glorious attribute to our school.

Cheerleaders

At the heart of school spirit ... are our Cheerleaders, who spread enthusiasm and a will to win during every pep rally and game. Even when defeat seems imminent, they are the ones who yell, "We're from Southeast, couldn't be prouder, If you can't hear us, we'll shout a little louder." SHS is proud of these ten girls who work tirelessly, cheering our team on to victories —not only in the winning of the game, but also in knowing that the game was well-played.
